

Event is hosted by the Carolina Association of Black Journalists Sponsored by the Hearst Visiting Professionals Program in the School of Journalism and Mass Communication

Photograph of Karen Parker.
From the 1965 Yackety Yack.

1st Installment of the
CABJ Lecture Series:

Karen Parker

“Activism and Professionalism”

1st black female undergraduate to attend UNC

A copy editor for the Winston-Salem Journal, Parker is a Journalism alumna. She enrolled in UNC in 1963 and graduated in 1965.

Parker will speak about balancing the activist and professional in you, without creating a conflict of interest.

Parker participated in civil rights demonstrations in Chapel Hill during her time at UNC.

Carroll Hall•Rm 33
Monday, March 29
6 p.m.

UNC-Chapel Hill
School of Journalism and Mass
Communication

Seating is limited so please
RSVP at cabjunc@gmail.com

Contact Ayana Allen at ayana@email.unc.edu with questions

The Carolina Association of Black Journalists (CABJ) is an affiliate student chapter of the National Association of Black Journalists (NABJ).

